The first semester of college can feel exciting, challenging, and fun all at once. After settling into the residence halls, being involved in extracurricular activities, and developing friendships, it’s important for “our panther” to stay focused. Academic Advising week begins October 23, and first-year students are required to meet with their assigned academic advisor. During this meeting, students and advisors will discuss various topics including: spring classes, major and career exploration paths, study abroad, and their overall Pitt experience.

October 30 - Roar into spring registration! Students will self-register on their assigned date and time based on credits earned. To access this information, go to my.pitt.edu, and select the Student Center tab.

As staff and faculty, we’re excited for your student to be a part of the University of Pitt Bradford family; this newfound freedom can be overwhelming, and having a support system is essential for “our panther” to succeed.

The Academic Coaching and Tutoring Center (ACTC) provides free tutoring services to students. Tutoring supports student development into self-regulated learners. The peer tutors are trained to direct all tutoring activity toward creating an environment that encourages and supports active and independent learning that adheres to the academic integrity of all Pitt-Bradford faculty.

When utilizing the ACTC, students are expected to arrive on time and have their textbooks, lab books, syllabi, lecture notes, assignments, past quizzes or tests, and questions.

Contact
Angie Wolfe, Coordinator
awolfe@pitt.edu
814.362.7674

The Academic Coaching and Tutoring Center (ACTC) located on the 2nd Floor of Hanley Library, Room 249. The ACTC utilizes TutorTrac to schedule tutoring appointments, but students can always stop by the center or ask the coordinator for assistance.

MOVING INTO THE SPRING SEMESTER

The first semester of college can feel exciting, challenging, and fun all at once. After settling into the residence halls, being involved in extracurricular activities, and developing friendships, it’s important for “our panther” to stay focused.

Academic Advising week begins October 23, and first-year students are required to meet with their assigned academic advisor. During this meeting, students and advisors will discuss various topics including: spring classes, major and career exploration paths, study abroad, and their overall Pitt experience.

October 30 - Roar into spring registration! Students will self-register on their assigned date and time based on credits earned. To access this information, go to my.pitt.edu, and select the Student Center tab.

As staff and faculty, we’re excited for your student to be a part of the University of Pitt Bradford family; this newfound freedom can be overwhelming, and having a support system is essential for “our panther” to succeed.

The ACTC is located on the 2nd Floor of Hanley Library, Room 249. The ACTC utilizes TutorTrac to schedule tutoring appointments, but students can always stop by the center or ask the coordinator for assistance.

Tutoring supports student development into self-regulated learners. The peer tutors are trained to direct all tutoring activity toward creating an environment that encourages and supports active and independent learning that adheres to the academic integrity of all Pitt-Bradford faculty.

When utilizing the ACTC, students are expected to arrive on time and have their textbooks, lab books, syllabi, lecture notes, assignments, past quizzes or tests, and questions.

Contact
Angie Wolfe, Coordinator
awolfe@pitt.edu
814.362.7674

The Academic Coaching and Tutoring Center (ACTC) provides free tutoring services to students.