BRIDGES Programs

What is it?
BRIDGES allows you to take entry-level college courses on the Pitt-Bradford campus while you’re still in high school.

What’s in it for you?
Earning college credits while you’re still in high school:
• Will give you a leg up on your college admissions applications.
• Means you may not need to take as many classes when you get to college.
• May save you money in the long run.
• Provides experience in a college classroom setting and...

You could get more money to attend Pitt-Bradford in 2014-15!

• $1,000 a year for up to four years – That’s what you would qualify for if you have at least a cumulative 2.5 GPA from your BRIDGES courses.
• And, if you have a qualifying SAT/ACT score and high school GPA, you could receive a Panther Scholarship, and that $1,000 would be added to it.
• That means if you live on campus, you could receive $7,000 each year for four years for a total of $28,000.
• If you commute, you could receive $3,000 each year for four years for a total of $12,000.
